

Literaturverzeichnis

Neue Studie auf dem Tisch

Forschungsprojekt Amalgam: GAT (German Amalgam Trial)

Dieter Melchart

1. Melchart D, Wühr E, Weidenhammer W, Kremers L: A multicenter survey of amalgam fillings and subjective complaints in non-selected patients in the dental practice. Eur J Oral Sci 1998;106:770-777.
2. Köhler W, Linde K, Halbach S, Zilker T, Kremers L, Saller R, Melchart D. Prognos in the diagnosis of amalgam hypersensitivity – a diagnostic case-control study. Forsch Komplementärmed 2007;14:18-24.
3. Melchart D, Köhler W, Linde K, Zilker T, Kremers L, Saller R, Halbach S. Biomonitoring of mercury in patients with complaints attributed to dental amalgam, healthy amalgam bearers, and amalgam-free subjects: A diagnostic study. Clin Toxicol 2008; 46(2):133-140 (doi: 10.1080/15563660701324211).
4. Halbach S, Vogt S, Köhler W, Felgenhauer N, Kremers L, Melchart D, Zilker T. Relationships between dose and concentrations of total and inorganic mercury in blood and urine of amalgam patients. Environmental Sciences 2003;10(2):71-81.
5. Halbach S, Vogt S, Köhler W, Felgenhauer N, Welzl G, Kremers L, Zilker T, Melchart D. Blood and urine mercury levels in adult amalgam patients of a randomized controlled trial: Interaction of Hg species in erythrocytes. Environ Res 2007 (doi:10.1016/j.envres.2007.07.005).
6. Melchart D, Vogt S, Köhler W, Streng A, Weidenhammer W, Kremers L, Hickel R, Felgenhauer N, Zilker T, Wühr E, Halbach S. Treatment of Health Complaints attributed to Amalgam – The German Amalgam Trial (GAT). J Dental Research 2008; 87:349-353.